Thank you for submitting your formative.

You appear to have a good cross-section of research references as part of your formative. When it comes to your actual summative, ensure that you really deep research your chosen publications to get lots of opportunities to engage in critical pros and cons discussion and to pull through your research via in-text citation. Your references are also from recent research resources by enlarge and this is appropriate, [to ensure you are looking at up to date references and research].

Your chosen title is also part of the Unit 1 list you were asked to select from, which is good practice. From the opening [2nd paragraph] you appear to understand that there needs to be a 'pros' and 'cons' discussion, [critical discussion] and so ensure in your actual summative that you apply this principal ALL the way through the actual summative.

Its fine to have a brief research methodology as an 'over view' in the Literature Review – do bear in mind that you only have 2,000 words total for the Literature Review and so keep any methodology discussion brief.

When it comes to the 'body' of your discussion, keep this very focused; it is really important to select ONE core subject that relates to your assignment title and deep research that in detail as you only have 2,000 words for the Literature Review. If you have multiple points of discussion you cannot research these in depth and your assignment will be only manage superficial research which does not allow any depth of deep discussion or criticality to occur. To achieve appropriate academic focus, you need to target a research subject and examine that critically looking at the pros and cons of that discussion. Please bear this very important point in mind for summative.

The below general information is circulated to all students from formative, looking forward to summative:

For the actual summative, ensure that citation is occurring all the way through your content. In-text citation then needs to be reflected in a list of references at the end of the assignment. That list of references needs to be in alphabetical order at the end of the assignment.

For formative formal academic writing isn't completely necessary, however for summative ensure that your writing style is wholly formal and academic. Also remember to apply page numbers to your summative document. Ensure that your summative has a critical 'pros and cons' view of discussion, looking at both the positives and negatives of the research that you choose to engage with. It is really important not to just look at one side of research. The content of summative needs to examine different publications and look at different perspectives.

As discussed in live seminars and in student support on the online hub, research for this module is just from secondary research, [and so research that is already in the public domain]. No primary research, [interaction with actual people] is to take place in this module.

Wishing you the best of luck now for your actual summative,

With best wishes

Karen
